Direct credit is the recommended method of payment.

A written statement will be issued to you immediately following the transaction to confirm the exact value paid.

We may not require evidence of your identity to satisfy our regulatory requirements if: you provide account details that either the original investment was made from, or an account that we have made payments into previously.

Our regulator requires us to verify your identification for every claim you make. This means that if you've previously submitted identification documents we're unable to use them again and must obtain new ones each time.

Please complete these cheque payment details if you would like payment to be made by cheque to the policyholder(s), a client money account of a solicitor, financial adviser or paid to a recognised financial institution.

Note – Payment by cheque is our least preferred option. Direct credit is safer and faster method of payment.

We must check the identity of customers to comply with our regulatory requirements. These regulations help to prevent criminals using financial products and services to launder money. If you provide account details that either the original investment was made from, or an account we have made payments into previously, we may not require evidence of your identity.

If we are not familiar with the account details you provide, we may issue a cheque payment, or we may contact you to verify these, or ask you to provide identity documentation.

Section 5 – Important information

1. Taxation

Any cash-in/withdrawal from this Bond/Plan (in full or in part), may produce a chargeable event gain, which may result in a liability to income tax above the basic rate and/or affect entitlement to Personal allowance and tax credit.

Where a partial cash-in, together with any earlier cash-ins (including regular withdrawals and any ongoing adviser charges) exceeds the annual tax deferred allowance (5% each year {cumulative} of the total amount invested), there will be a chargeable event gain, in which case it may be advantageous to fully cash-in some of the individual policies (segments), if by doing so, the chargeable event gain will be reduced.

Once processed, except for extreme circumstances where HMRC may consider a chargeable event gain to be 'wholly disproportionate' (which would require you to apply direct to HMRC in writing for approval), HMRC regulations do not allow for a withdrawal to be reversed, or recalculated on a more favourable basis for income tax purposes. It is therefore important for the most suitable method of withdrawal to be selected at the outset.

This information is based on our understanding of current taxation, legislation and HM Revenue and Customs practice, all of which are liable to change without notice. The impact of taxation (and any tax relief(s)) depends on individual circumstances.

Further information is available in our 'Guide to tax on your investment' leaflet, which you can request by calling 0345 640 1000 or visiting pru.co.uk (pru.co.uk/pdf/INVS0002.pdf)

2. Charges

Cash-in charges may be imposed on partial or full cash-ins, in accordance with the Policy provisions and as explained in the product literature when the policy was taken out.

For partial cash-ins the monetary amount of the payment will be as requested but additional units will be cancelled to meet any charges due.

Please note: Cash in charges do not apply to regular withdrawals. If you require more information regarding your withdrawal options and how cash-in charges are applied, please refer to your key features document.

3. Plans/Bonds invested in a With-Profits Fund

A market value reduction (MVR) may be applied to reduce the value of a full withdrawal. Where a partial withdrawal is required, the MVR if applicable would increase the number of units cancelled to provide the requested withdrawal payment.

Whether a MVR will apply on the day the withdrawal is processed cannot be predicted and we are unable to hold a request for a withdrawal which is conditional on whether a MVR applies or not.

For an explanation of the market value reduction, please refer to the key features document which you received with your policy documents.

4. Reduction in Benefits

Where applicable to your plan/bond, a partial cash-in may affect the following benefits:

- Annual growth reward
- Guaranteed minimum death benefit
- Guaranteed minimum fund value

Please refer to your key features document

5. Possible delays in cancelling units (PruFund Funds)

For any partial or full encashment involving a PruFund Fund, in exceptional circumstances we may delay cancelling units for a period of 28 days refer to your key features document for details. Where a 28 day notice period is to apply Prudential will contact you accordingly. In the event your encashment instruction also includes any other fund(s), when contacting you we shall also obtain instructions from you on how the other fund(s) not subject to a 28 day notice period, are to be processed.

Once a partial or full encashment instruction involving a PruFund Fund, is received by Prudential, and the 28 day notice applies, this instruction can not be subsequently cancelled or replaced with revised instructions.

(Other funds)

In exceptional circumstances we may delay cancelling units in any fund by up to one month

(6 months in the case of the Property Fund or any funds that invest in buildings or land) from the date we receive your instruction.

6. Any part withdrawals taken will reduce the value of your bond/plan. If the withdrawals including any ongoing and ad hoc adviser charges are more than any overall growth achieved the value of your plan will reduce below the level of capital invested.
